Falling Plates

The Falling Plates Rack consists of Six Metal Plates, approximately 8 inches in diameter. The Game requires every participant to shoot as many plates as possible in a specific time frame, which depends on the distance and firearm used, as follows:

Falling Plates – Pistol is shot from 10, 15, 20, 25 and 30 yards and the times are 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10 seconds respectively.

Falling Plates – Rifle is shot from 30, 35, 40, 45 and 50 yards and the times are 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14 seconds respectively.

Only .22 Rimfire (Long Rifle, Long or Short) are allowed.

No other caliber or any Magnums are permitted.

Courses of Fire are the same for both, Pistol and Rifle:

the competitor shall load only 6 (six) rounds, and will shoot within the mentioned time slots.

A timer is used to establish the shooting periods. Every participant will be called to the shooting lane, at which said participant will arrive with two magazines or speed loaders, with no more than 6 (six) rounds on each, and will load the firearm when directed to do so by the Match Director. Two strings of 6 (six) shots will take place. There are no alibis whatsoever.

Only fallen plates will count as 1 (one) point each, towards the maximum possible of 60 points.
